

HARLEM COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS
JACOB SOUL FOOD RESTAURANT

The Harlem Community Newspapers, Inc. Connecting Harlem, Queens, Brooklyn and The Bronx

COMMUNITY
HARLEM NEWS
"Good News You Can Use"

Vol. 15 No. 50

December 3 - December 9, 2015

FREE

Irving Street Wins ADELCO Award for "Ain't Misbehavin'" - Performed at the Firehouse in Harlem last Fall
See page 6

Shirley Chisholm, First African American Congresswoman to Receive Presidential Medal of Freedom
See page 11

Unique Black Dolls and Holiday Ornaments at The Harlem Holiday Doll Show and Sale
See page 10

JACOB FAMILY RESTAURANT SERVED FREE MEALS ON THANKSGIVING SEE PAGE 13, 18

VISIT OUR WEBSITE:
www.harlemcommunitynews.com

/harlemnewsinc
 @harlemnewsinc

"SEE PAGE 2"

Jacob Family Restaurant Served Free Meals on Thanksgiving

by Derrel Jazz Johnson

Rachid and Kim Niang, owners of two Jacob Restaurants in Harlem (Lenox @ 128th and Frederick Douglas @ 143rd St), continue to give back annually to the Harlem community by giving free dinners on Thanksgiving day. For several hours the community came to Jacobs and had their Thanksgiving turkey and trimmings along with the food that Jacobs features every day. Rachid is blessed to have dozens of volunteers who are there to help make the process a smooth one and especially to help the elderly and disabled. Congressman Charles B. Rangel, who represents the 13th Congressional District of New York that includes Upper Manhattan and parts of the Bronx, served food Thanksgiving afternoon at Jacob Restaurant located at 2695 Frederick Douglass Blvd. Wearing an apron and serving turkey, Congressman Rangel greeted the hundreds of Harlemites who waited in long lines for the signature soul food served at Jacob Restaurant. What was on the menu for those who were served at Jacob? Soul food staples that the restaurant has become known for, like fried, baked, barbecue and jerked chicken, collard greens, macaroni and cheese, sweet potatoes, string beans, curried goat, crab cakes, cabbage, baked salmon, beef short ribs, different types of rice, corn, oxtails, assorted fruit, dessert including banana pudding, and much more were available, as well as items especially added for Thanksgiving, including turkey and staffing. Harlem News spoke exclusively with the Lion of Harlem about his continued service to Harlem, particularly on Thanksgiving. "Well it makes me feel good, it remind us of how fortunate some of us are. It's a good feeling. It's always good whether it is Thanksgiving or not to give thanks to God." I then asked Congressman Rangel what he was most thankful for. "Being alive. I'm 85 years old" he said, as the natural leader continued to shuttle people in and around the restaurant. While Congressman Rangel was certainly the oldest volunteer serving food at Jacob Restaurant, we also spoke to the youngest volunteer, Leon Barrett, Jr, an eight-year old who was with his grandmother and two aunts. Leon said it was "good" to volunteer to "help the community." I, for one, was very impressed with this eight-year old who was not only volunteering, but knew why he was doing it too. Kudos to Leon Barrett, Jr and his support system for installing the valuable lessons of giving back to the community at such a young age.

HIGHLIGHT

Walt Frazier welcomed the community at Jacob Restaurant at the Lenox @ 128th St location. Rachid said "We as black men need to talk. If we all choose a day to give back to the community, we will all succeed." Rachid, who named the restaurant Jacob in honor of his father, Jacob Niang, had to oversee many Thanksgiving orders for clients, while still managing to selflessly serve the community on a day of need as well.

HARLEM COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS

